FIRST BADGER TROOPS LEAVE TOMORROW

WAR WILL BE AVERTED BY MEXICAN REPLY IS INDICATION IN MEXICO

MEXICAN CAPITAL HIGHLY HOPEFUL AS NOTE IS DRAFTED

Report Americans Have Left Namiquipa Has Salutary Effect on the Mexican Populace

THE FLIGHT IS CHECKED

Many Americans Remain in Mexico, Even After Lansing Message Warning Them from Country

MEXICO CITY, June 30.—The foreign office has practically completed the reply to the last American note. It may be given out within a few hours. The general belief is that the reply will be pacificatory and will relieve the possibility of war between Mexico and the United States.

The majority of well informed persons in the capital believe that there will be no hostilities. They base this belief not only on their knowledge of developments here, but on the attitude of Wall street and London financial interests likely to be affected by war.

Belief in a peaceable outcome is strengthened by General Trevino's report that the American troops have evacuated Namiquipa, which had been their base, and other points in Mexico, retiring northward. These places were immediately occupied by constitutional troops.

Response Friendly

As further evidence of the desire on the part of Mexican officials for friendly relations, it was pointed out that the American application for the delivery of bodies of soldiers killed at Carrizal met with an immediate friendly response.

So strong is the feeling of confidence in a peaceful settlement that

CHAMBERLAIN SEES DANGER IN PRESENT MILITIA SYSTEM

Senator Relates How Guards Have Been Forced to Leave for Border with Little or No Supplies

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Had trouble threatened with a powerful, aggressive nation, instead of Mexico, the last few days would have shown the "inherent weakness of the national guard system even more strikingly than has been the case," Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee said today in an interview with the United Press.

He had before him reports of guardsmen leaving for the front short of horses, mules, supplies, even rifles, of state forces where 60 per cent of men never had fired an army rifle; of large proportions of national guard companies being disqualified by United States army physical examinations.

"Let me make clear first," he said, "that this is not an attack on the guards. The guardsmen, faulty as the system has shown itself, are better prepared than any of the rest of us. Indeed they are the only men who have imposed anything on themselves.

"What the failures of the past ten days ought to do is to show the American people their duty—the duty of each one—to get in readiness for what situation may come up.

"It is the American people who are responsible."

GIVES POSTOFFICE BID

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The treasury today awarded a contract for $58,730 for building a post office at Redfield, S. D., to Charles Waitz Sons of Des Moines, Iowa. The bid was the lowest of four. The contract must be fulfilled in fourteen months.

CARRANZA ACTING IN GOOD FAITH DECLARES MEXICAN STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, June 30.—While admitting that release of the American prisoners had made trouble in the Mexican situation "less immediate," the state department this afternoon said officially that other matters between the governments are just as "immediate." The other matters referred to were Carranza's reply containing the statement of his attitude toward future relations with America and his position on the orders issued by General Trevino.

MEXICO CITY, June 30.—The foreign office this afternoon issued a 3,000 word statement in reply to the Lansing note. The statement contains a strenuous denial of many of the charges made in this communication with counter charges against the United States, but does not contain a repetition of the demand for the withdrawal of American troops.

(Note—The cable dispatch does not make it clear whether the statement given out by the Mexican foreign office is the actual answer of the Mexican government to the American note, or is simply an official comment, preceding actual delivery of the note).

Replying to the charge that American citizens have been murdered in Mexico, the statement points out that because of internal disturbances Mexican citizens also have suffered from the depredations of bandits and revolutionary forces. It declares it unreasonable to expect that foreigners should be immune under such circumstances.

It is also asserted that in many cases Mexicans have been murdered on American soil and that their murderers have gone unpunished, though the attention of the American state department has been called to these crimes. The foreign office points out further that many of the alleged outrages, complained of by the American government, occurred before the United States recognized the Carranza government and adds that in view of this fact it is not proper to bring these complaints to the attention of the de facto government at this time.

Reiterates Good Faith

The foreign office reiterates previous declarations that every effort has been made by the constitutional government to punish persons guilty of outrages against foreigners. The statement declares that the American victims of the San Ysabel massacre were fully warned by constitutionalists military chiefs that the country in which they were proceeding was infested by Villa bands, but insisted on entering the region of danger, despite these protests. The foreign office further declares that several days before Villa's raid on Columbus, Mexican military authorities notified the United States border officials that Villa was moving toward the border with his bandits and that ample time elapsed for the American military commanders to safeguard border towns.

The foreign office resents the charge that constitutional troops have failed to co-operate with American troops in the hunt for Villa, stating that after the raid on Columbus, a Mexican force took the field in pursuit of the Villistas, scattering the bandits.

No Entry Permission Given

The statement that the Carranza government never gave permission for American troops to enter Mexican territory is repeated and the blame for the encounter at Parral is laid upon the commander of the American forces, who, the statement declared, entered the town without permission of the Mexican authorities.

Tomorrow's Slogan—"MAKE IT 1,000!"

With wild enthuiasm, the regular and special committee of the "Forward La Crosse" campaign greeted today's report that the Chamber of Commerce membership had mounted to 912 by volunteering to go out tomorrow AND MAKE IT ONE THOUSAND.

When Dr. G. J. Egan, reporting for regular committee No. 1, arose in his place at the noonday luncheon at Hotel La Crosse and announced sixteen new members, a great cheer went up that never ceased, but swelled and receded with the varying fortunes of the other committees as their reports were read. For a second time the North side, led by C. F. Lien, was in the van, with eighteen members, leading the first committee by two. This record stood until the special committees were reached, when George W. Burton took the bun with twenty-five.

During the reading a great bouquet marked the progress of competition. It was handed to the first committee's table, where it reposed in fragrant symbolism of leadership until Mr. Lien's committee jumped ahead. Then it was whisked over to the North side table, only to be swept away to its final resting place when Mr. Burton swept away the day's honors by presenting twenty-five memberships.

The city and county officials made it unanimous. They were captured by the first committee and taken into camp in a body. Another rousing outburst of applause greeted this announcement.

As soon as the final reports were in, the cry went up, "MAKE IT 1,000!" The committees were officially through, but with one accord they arose to the new task and without a single exception the 100 discharged regulars became 100 excited volunteers, thirsting for battle. Tomorrow they wind up the greatest civic achievement in the history of La Crosse by perfecting a Chamber of Commerce with 1,000 memberships.

All Report This Morning

Practically every worker in the great Chamber of Commerce campaign was on hand at 9:30 this morning at the Elks' club for the final day's effort. There weren't enough cards left for districts, and they were called off in turn, and the committees thereby selected their own list of "prospects".

The campaign workers have marveled at the thoroughness and system of this campaign. It was so arranged that during the first two days' canvass, every individual and firm in the city selected by committees as possible prospects were canvassed. All those that did not sign up the first two days were seen on the third day, and those that did not join on the third day were seen on this the final day.

Scores of men who hesitated about joining on the first day of the campaign signed up readily when seen by a second committee. Every individual and firm will have a chance to join the new Chamber. There is a list of over twenty-five prospects that have been out of town during the campaign. Many out of town firms with local offices have had to submit the application to the head office for approval. A number of these are expected in next week.

Many of the chairmen in making their final reports today expressed themselves as gratified that they had a chance to take part in this notable work.

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS OF CITIZEN SOLDIERS

At 8 o'clock tonight, in the city hall, there will be a meeting of citizens having employes with the national guard. The citizens' committee of the Soldiers' Protective association have urgently requested the attendance of every employer, as important plans will be laid.

BERLIN BELIEVES ALLIES ABOUT TO START BIG DRIVE

Italian Activity in Trentino and British Awakening in Flanders Are Grounds for the Belief

KOLOMEA SAID CAPTURED?

Paris Paper Says Russians Have Captured Important Galician Railway City; Germans Active in East

BERLIN, June 30.—Breaking of a new Italian offensive on the Isonzo front and the steadily increasing violence of the British artillery assault leaves no doubt in Berlin that the allies are in the early stages of their "grand offensive."

Vienna dispatches today announce that the Italians have launched powerful attacks around the Austrian stronghold of Goritz, where no serious fighting has occurred for many weeks. The Italian attacks on the Trentino front continue. The British are cannonading the German front impartially, bringing a systematic fire to bear upon the whole line southward to the Somme. The same procedure preceded the allies offensive last September when the whole German front was bathed in fire before attacks were launched around Loos and in the Champagne.

Russ Repulsed

The Russians made fruitless counter attacks southeast of Winiewka in the region west of Sokul, the war office announced this afternoon. The Germans took 100 prisoners and seven machine guns.

Call New Classes

BY JOHN H. HEARLEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

ROME, June 30.—Fulfilling its promise for a more vigorous prosecution of the war, the new ministry today called to the colors the classes of 1882 to 1895 and the third categories of the classes of 1882 and 1883.

The call adds large forces to the Italian armies, though the exact number cannot be made public.

The public has been aroused to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the steady advance of the Italian armies in their new offensive in the Trentino.

The Austrians are now opposing most stubborn resistance to the Italian advance in the Trentino.

Claim Kolomea Taken

PARIS, June 30.—The newspaper Echo De Paris declared today that the Russians have captured the important Galician railway city of Kolomea.

Petrograd dispatches to the United Press today reported the Russians within ten miles of Kolomea.

Germans Open in East

PETROGRAD, June 30.—The Germans have begun a series of sudden violent attacks against General Kuropatkin's entire front from Riga through Jacobstadt to Dvinsk. It is believed Marshal von Hindenberg is launching a new offensive in an effort to divert Russian troops from the Galician and Volhynian campaign.

Virtually the whole of Kuropatkin's forces are under bombardment. German raiding parties have been harassing the Russian lines for forty-eight hoors.

Shift to West Bank

PARIS, June 30.—The Germans last night shifted their attack back to the west bank of the Meuse and delivered several violent attacks preceded by liquid fire between Avocourt and Hill 304, the war office announced.

All the attacks were repulsed, the enemy suffering frightful losses, but east of Hill 304 the Germans carried the first line of a fortified work in which all the French occupants had been buried. The French captured the work by a most brilliant counter attack.

The Germans became active yesterday along the Belgian front, but a German attack was repulsed. Near Nieuport French artillery, supporting the Belgian lines, dispersed three enemy reconnaissances.

Attacks Repulsed

BERLIN, June 30.—British attacks at various places along the German front have been repulsed, the war office announced this afternoon.

In the fighting northwest of Verdun, the Germans have made progress near Hill 304.

WISCONSIN BATTERY AND TROOP LOADING CARS TODAY FOR DEPARTURE

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., June 30.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon companies E, D, F and G of the Third infantry, the first battalion of the First infantry, the field hospital, battery A and troop A have been mustered in, with the prospect that the complete regiment will be mustered in before night. The battery and troop are scheduled to leave at 10 o'clock tomorrow but may be delayed until noon by the transfer of the property to the government. Rejected militiamen are being sworn in but will be discharged here and will not go to the front.

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., June 30.—Troop A and battery A of the Wisconsin brigade spent a busy day loading their equipment on flat cars preparatory to their departure tomorrow morning for Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The new spur track to the military reservation has been completed for this purpose.

Battery A, First field artillery and the First field hospital corps took the federal oath today.

The Wisconsin troop and battery will go to the border without horses, as the officers believed the price of $140 a horse which the government offered for their mounts, was too low. Many of the horses are pets and will be returned by their owners. The others will be disposed of in Wisconsin and new mounds purchased on the border.

The three regiments of infantry were clamoring today for orders to go to the border. It is believed that the First infantry will leave early next week, possibly Monday, although opinion is not lacking that their departure will be delayed until July 5.

It was thought to be certain that the First regiment of infantry would be ready to leave on Saturday, but the muster in of the first battalion was again delayed on Thursday and would not be made until today.

There was a demonstration in the camps of the troop and the battery when the news that they were to go south was brought to the men.

Rigid Censorship Established

A rigid censorship was established at the camp today by Captain L. T. Richardson, United States army officer in charge of the troops. A censor was appointed and correspondents informed that no dispatches were to be sent out until they had been given the "once over" by the army official.

Can't Write for Papers

Captain Richardson also announced that members of the guard would not be allowed to write for papers. This will affect many men in camp who had been writing for the papers back home while serving as a member of the guard.

POLICE SEEK BLOOD SPATTERED CAR WITH LEFT LIGHT BROKEN

Reports of the whereabouts of a blood-spattered car with its left headlight broken came to Chief Webber and District Attorney Otto Schlabach this afternoon. Mr. Schlabach is conducting an investigation.

That the names of one of more men, who may be implicated in the killing of Mrs. Catherine Dahl, 74, who died Tuesday night, a few minutes after being struck by an unidentified automobile in front of her home, 921 South Eighth street, will be presented to the coroner's jury, became known today.

Inquest Continued

This much was admitted by District Attorney Otto M. Schlabach this morning. He refused to give their names, however. The inquest into the killing, commenced when the jurymen viewed the body Wednesday, and continued until 2 o'clock this afternoon, has been re-continued until next Wednesday.

"Complete data is not in my hands to proceed," District Attorney Schlabach stated.

Chief of Police John B. Webber gave out a statement today that he was without a clue with which to work. No arrests have been made, it it was stated by the police.

Funeral Today

Mrs. Dahl was buried at Oak Grove cemetery this afternoon, following services at the home. They were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, attended by many friends. Floral offerings were many. The services were conducted by Rev. D. C. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

PARROT "JOE" IS GIFT TO SOLDIERS IN ANSWER TO TRIBUNE APPEAL

The Third Regiment Hospital corps is to have its mascot.

Members of the corps recently appealed through The TRIBUNE for a parrot. Oher companies of the regiment, now stationed at Camp Douglas, awaiting final orders to move to the Mexican border, have dogs, cats, and one militia detachment even enjoys the friendship of a skunk, the appeal made known.

The La Crosse hospital men were lonely. They had no mascot of any kind.

Today their appeal was answered.

J. P. Joyce, La Crosse and Southeastern railroad watchman, of Viroqua, has offered to give the boys a parrot.

"Having noticed the request from the Third Regiment Hospital corps for a mascot," Mr. Joyce wrote The TRIBUNE, "I wish to offer the boys my parrot. His name is 'Joe.'

"He is a good talker and learns quickly. His vocabulary is absolutely void of profanity."

"Joe" arrived on the 5:30 Southeastern train from Viroqua this afternoon. He was met at the Burlington station here by a representative of The TRIBUNE, and forwarded to the hospital men at Camp Douglas.

WHAT PUNISHMENT GIVEN?

WASHINGTON, June 30. — The United States government plans to make a new inquiry soon of Germany as to what punishment she meted out to the submarine commander who attacked the Sussex. Inasmuch as an informal inquiry developed no information, the second query will be forwarded.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE TRESPASSER

BY LOUISE OLIVER

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was a hill, as fresh as the morning, and the steering wheel of her car was in preparatory to turning a sharp curve in the road when around the corner catapulted a small boy with red apples as he ran, blouse, pockets and arms full to overflowing.

Priscilla as he ran two things instantly dawned upon Priscilla—first, that someone else was likely at any moment to appear in belligerent pursuit and also that the small boy was going to be caught unless a miracle happened, for there was no hiding place available near that well-groomed road with its perpendicular high bank on one side and a high picket fence on the other.

The look of terror in the fugitive's eyes went to Priscilla's heart. Involuntarily her foot went to the brake and her hand to the door. "Hop in!" she cried, and Dickie needed no second invitation, but tumbled in, apples and all, just as a man came around the corner brandishing a hastily procured switch.

As the little car whizzed past, he caught a glimpse of his enemy riding away to safety and peace beside the pretty representative of a family he had no reason whatever to love.

"Hi, there! You little devil!" brandishing the stick.

"My goodness!" shivered Dickie. "Ain't he mad though! It's a good thing you came along."

"What was he after you for?" queried Priscilla a little sternly, shutting off some gas. There was no longer any need for such haste, as the irate pursuer was far behind.

"Why," answered Dick, "I was going along the road and I got kinda hungry and I saw those trees in the orchard all full of apples and a good many on the ground, and I thought I'd eat one. But there was so many and I didn't know which one to take, so I thought I'd take several. And then Mr. Criswell came along and saw me, and while he was reachin' up for a switch I cut an' run and he chased me. Then you came along. Say, you're awfully nice to save me. Don't you want an apple?"

"No, thank you. But I'm going to take them all, little boy. You see, you didn't mean to steal, but you did, and after I take you home I'm going to take the apples back to Mr. Criswell. But if you are very hungry you may take one and I'll pay him for it."

Once in town, they sought the street upon which the culprit lived and Priscilla delivered him to his mother, and then with her cargo of stolen fruit she turned back to the farm.

"I rather wish," she said thoughtfully, "that it were any one else but that old Mr. Criswell. He is likely to be very unpleasant. I wonder if Bob's at home!" The name brought a soft flush to her cheeks, but in the depths of her blue eyes lay the shadow of trouble. As she turned the wheel this way and that, keeping the car to the center of the tortuous white road, her thoughts went back to the time when her father's farm joined the Criswell's and when she and Bob had gone to the district school together. They had been companions always, then sweethearts. But coal had been found on a strip of land between the two farms, a strip which both families had claimed to own for years. The coal had made a bad situation worse, and Bob and Priscilla were forbidden to speak to one another.

"I've brought back the apples the little boy took," said Priscilla to Mr. Criswell when he came to the door in answer to her knock. "They are all here except one and I'll pay for that." She piled the apples on a chair and opened her purse.

"You folks aren't always so particular about giving people what is justly theirs," remarked the old man acidly.

Priscilla flushed painfully, but did not reply.

"Besides, you'd no business protecting a fugitive from justice today. That kid needed a whalin' and by Jupiter, he'll get it yet if I catch him."

Priscilla laid a nickel on the chair beside the apples and turned to go. Her silence merely infuriated the old man. "I just want to tell you," bawled he, "that if you ever write another letter to Bob, I'll burn it, so you might as well save yourself the trouble. No wonder you can sport around in an automobile of your own, spending money that justly belongs to other people. You come of a thieving lot, you do and I'll—"

"Father!" A young man came around the house in time to hear the last words.

The tears had started to Priscilla's eyes, but her grief turned to radiance.

"Bob!" she cried.

"You git!" yelled the old man. "Bob, you come here!"

But the young man helped the girl into her car and closed the door before returning.

"Don't worry, dear," he whispered. "There is bound to be some way out. Father's furious about the coal or he wouldn't say such things. I love you and always will, no matter what comes."

One day, a week later, Priscilla in her car was passing the Criswell farm when she picked up a passenger, in fact the same passenger who had been fleeing from Mr. Criswell's wrath a few days before. "Going my way, Dickie?"

"Yes'm!"

to you."

"Mother licked me for stealin'," sheepishly.

"I guess you needed it. Where have you been today?"

"Catchin' chubs down in Criswell's creek."

"The old man will get after you again for trespassing!"

"Oh, I didn't get any!"

Dickie's method of moralizing was beyond Priscilla. She changed the subject. "What have you got there?"

"That! Oh, I guess it's coal. Say, the funniest thing, I almost forgot about it. While I was sittin' there on the bank above the creek, two men came along and stopped. They didn't see me, but I could hear what they were talking about. One of them says, 'It's coal all right.' An' the other one says, 'Yes, the vein runs over this way too. You were right, Bill. All our digging ain't for nothin' now. Old Criswell mustn't know a thing an' we'll buy his farm for a figure he can't refuse.' And the first man says, 'We're rich men, Trent, shake.' Then they went on without seeing me at all."

"Dickie?" cried Priscilla, stopping the car. "Are you sure you heard this. Maybe you went to sleep and dreamed!"

"There's the coal! They dropped some pieces. They were all dirty and they had been diggin', just as they said, on the side of the bank. There's a hole under some bushes. I saw it and the dirt. It's that wild place no one ever goes. Funny, isn't it?"

Priscilla turned her car. "Dickie, I saved you one day, now you do something for me, will you? I'm going to take you to Mr. Criswell and I want you to tell him all you told me."

Dick squirmed. "Why—a—yes, I guess I will if you want me to. Maybe I'll get that switchin' though."

"No, you won't—not if I know anything."

"All right."

So Priscilla and Dick drove back to the Criswells and Dick told his wonderful tale.

"Humph! Those men are in the kitchen now," said the old man, "the sneekin' thieves. So, sonny, you say you can show me the place they have been diggin' and I've got really truly coal on my lan'? Just wait! I'll tell them I have to have a week to think it over. Then I'll go with you to the spot. Miss Priscilla, if you and Bob care to go along, maybe you'd like to hunt him up. He's somewhere around the barn."

"Bob, oh Bob, where are you?" called Priscilla blithely.

Bob stuck his head over the edge of the hay loft.

"Have I died and gone to heaven, or has the millennium come? It is really you, Priscilla dear? What's happened?"

"Come down and I'll tell you," she laughed. "Your father sent me to get you! I think the millennium has come."

Dickie's story proved to be true. Mr. Criswell made a fortune from his coal and he is now trying to make up for his gruff manner toward his pretty new daughter-in-law. And Dickie can have all the applies he wants.

Make Weaning Time Easy For You and the Baby

You have brought your baby safe and serene to the time when he must be weaned. And as he dabs about with his little fists, you think sadly of the hard and weary days before you.

But weaning time can be so easy for you and easy for the baby. It need not even ruffle the rose leaf color in his cheeks.

Just change him from your own milk gradually, one feeding at a time, something so like your breast milk that his tiny body will feel no change or shock. Your baby will slip easily into the use of because Nestlé's is the nearest thing to mother's milk that doctors and scientists have given to the world.

(A complete food—not a milk modifier)

Of course, if your baby can't have your own milk, he must have milk in some form. Since raw cow's milk is savy and full of sickness, your baby will have to have cow's milk so changed that it will be safe for him. Cow's milk is the basis of Nestlé's, but is the milk from healthy cows and clean dairies. It is modified under the watchful care of doctors and scientists so that the heavy parts are modified. (All danger of sickness is taken out. It is reduced to powder, packed in an air-tight can, and reaches you always fresh, always pure. No hand has touched it, no germ can reach it.

No matter how careful you are at home, you could not modify your baby's milk as carefully as scientists have modified it for you in Nestlé's. You cannot free it from germs as Nestlé's does. You cannot soften the tough curd as Nestlé's does. You cannot add so exactly, just the fats, proteids and carbohydrates your baby needs to build a healthy, round, sturdy body.

Nestlé's is a complete food, so you add only clear water, boil one minute and it is ready.

Send the coupon for a sample can (enough for 12 feedings) and see how Nestle's makes him happy

GUARDS DOWNCAST ON NEWS CARRANZA RELEASES CAPTIVES

CHICAGO, June 30.—Eastern militia regiments, enroute to the border, seemed considerably dampened in enthusiasm yesterday as their trains passed through Chicago. News that Carranza had released the American soldiers held prisoners at Chihuahua left an impression with the militiamen that they would not see active service.

Their trains, however, were decorated, along German army lines, with chalk sketches of Carranza and Villa and inscriptions like this:

"To Mexico or Bust."

"Carranza's whiskers or Villa's scalp."

The first battalion of the Fifth Massachusetts and the Third ambulance corps and field hospital of New York, with their full equipment, were the first to arrive in Chicago yesterday. After their arrival the trains poured in almost hourly.

The Fourteenth New York infantry, which arrived in Chicago Wednesday, got away borderward shortly before midnight. Colonel John H Foote, their commander, said his men were in fine spirits.

TOBACCO FOR SOLDIERS

NEW YORK, June 30.—Within a few days there will be sent from this city the first shipment of the largest tobacco order ever placed in this country. The order totals 23,500,000 pounds. The tobacco order will come from Louisville and will be shipped in hogsheads of which there will be 15,000, the total shipment weighing 11,700 tons.

The French government is the purchaser of the tobacco, all of which is in leaf form and will be manufactured in France.

MUSICIANS REFUSE TO FILL PLACES

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., June 30.—Musicians of the Sheboygan band today telegraphed the First regiment at Camp Douglas refusing to organize a military band. The Sheboygan band was asked to furnish musicians for the First regiment after nine members of the military band at Camp Douglas failed to pass the physical test.

It seems as though the navy department ought to name one of the revenue cutters High-Cost-of-Living, for there ain't nothing that cuts into a feller's revenue more than that.

Inexpensive Method of Reducing Dangerous Swollen Veins at Home

Doctor's Recent Discovery, Also Heals Ulcers, Boils, Carbuncles, Abcesses and Open Sores in a Few Days.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start this today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil for 50 cents at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller, and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruption to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barbers' itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

You can readily understand that Moone's Emerald Oil must be a powerful, penetrating preparation, when it has reduced goiters and wens, and is recommended for such distress.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, wens or goiter, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, boils, abcesses or piles in a few days, should not hesitate to get a 50 cent bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. You can always get Moone's Emerald Oil at any druggist.

WEATHER
U. S. Weather Bureau

Temperatures Yesterday

High, 85; Low, 64; Precipitation, .02.

Forecasts

For Wisconsin: Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday with probably showers. Somewhat warmer tonight and in east portion Saturday.

For Minnesota: Unsettled with probably showers tonight or Saturday. Warmer northeast portion tonight.

For Iowa: Generally fair tonight and Saturday, except possibly local thunder showers north portion. Slightly cooler northwest portion tonight.

Weather Conditions

Rain has fallen in the Gulf states and from the Lake region to the North Pacific coast during the past 24 hours but the weather is generally fair in all sections this morning.

The temperature is higher in the lower Missouri and Ohio valleys and generally cooler in Montana and Wyoming. Maximum temperatures of 90 to 92 degrees were quite general yesterday in the Mississippi valley and Plains states as far north as South Dakota.

The pressure is highest over the Lake region and lowest in the Canadian northwest.

These conditions indicate unsettled weather in this section with showers tonight or Saturday. The temperature will be somewhat higher tonight.

The Searchlight — Here are the facts of SCIENCE EDUCATION INVENTION

TOY YACHT RACING

The youngsters in several of the New York schools have developed a new sport which not only gives pleasure to them but interests a large number of spectators. They are forming yacht clubs for the sailing of toy yachts in the lake in Central park. The toy boats are constructed in the Manual Training school rooms and contain as many features as possible of the larges vessels from which they are copied. The races for these miniature craft are conducted with due regard to the regulations governing the large yacht races which have become so important a sport among American millionaires. A number of miniature yacht races are already scheduled as a part of the Fourth of July celebrations of several public schools.

WE HAVE FOUND "THE SENSE OF THE CITY"

Were the Chamber of Commerce to disband tomorrow, the experience of its borning would be worth to La Crosse many times the entire sum subscribed for its support.

What sum is it not worth for a city to learn that it IS a city? Several years ago President Vincent, of the University of Minnesota, entertained the board of trade with an address upon "The Sense of the City". In conclusion he told us we were a city "of hard-headed business men—yes, hard headed". We didn't exactly "get him", but we have "got him" now. The thing that this campaign, with its shoulder-rubbing labor and its gift of eloquence, has done is to awaken in us "the Sense of the City".

The zealous, conscientious work of the committees, the loyalty and comprehension of their appeal, the widely generous and understanding reception accorded them, the co-ordination of every civic unit and the co-operation of every individual—these things to which nothing in our history is comparable—demonstrate in a most practical way that La Crosse has arrived.

Wipe out the Chamber of Commerce, destroy every dollar underwritten in the splendid response to its appeal—leave only the knowledge that we CAN get together, that we CAN harmonize, co-operate and achieve; leave only this awakened consciousness of the city and what the city is, and of our proper relationship to the city—leave us only this and we have a priceless boon.

STOP GOSSIP AVOID SCANDAL

To switch out the lights and flee away in the dark, leaving the car's victim to die alone, is a crime the brutality and cowardice of which is utterly contemptible. No man should be charged with that crime upon insufficient evidence. Certainly to repeat the purest gossip connecting names of decent people with it is reprehensible in the extreme.

It is necessary for the police to follow every clue, and words dropped in the course of their inquiries have been made the foundation upon which has been based wild speculation that, passing from mouth to mouth, has been magnified to fact with the garrulous mendacity of "The Three Black Crows". One after another these false tales have been exposed and branded by the police authorities, but scandal peddlers are prolific, and of thousands who have heard the yarns, but a few have knowledge of their falsity.

The TRIBUNE takes this means of informing its readers that all stories thus far circulated are libel, that the police have not established the identity of the guilty party, and that until a warrant is issued upon a definite complaint every repetition of the gossip is unwise and unjust.

THIS AFFAIR WILL NOT "BLOW OVER"

Outsiders who trespass the city speed laws should be punished, but the regularity with which they are "nailed" furnishes a contrast by which can be measured the utter failure of the authorities to discipline those of our own citizens who, with marvelous impudence and habitual recklessness, ignore these same laws to the peril of all and the destruction of the less fortunate.

Of course a reasonable time must be given the police to make exhaustive search for the slayer of Mrs. Dahl, but public patience is not of the sort that "endureth forever". If anywhere there is a notion that this affair will "blow over", let it be dismissed. The TRIBUNE is relentlessly on the trail of the speeders. Justice must be done. Evidence of scores of violations is in the hands of the officials. So long has the speeding habit been permitted to grow with utter disregard for comatose ordinances and statutes that now it is firmly fixed. Only continued, drastic penalization of speed fiends will eradicate it. The evidence which the police hold is public property. Its existence is known by men who will compel action at no matter what embarrassment to those whose sworn duty has been neglected. It will be better to discontinue dickering about the size of fines, and get down to business.

WE ARE NOT YET OUT OF THE WOODS

There is no fonder hope in the American breast than that this country may escape the necessity of engaging in war with Mexico. In a time of darkness, when a declaration of hostilities seemed inevitable, there came a ray of light. Carranza had liberated the American prisoners, thus yielding the point that gave the situation its most desperate character. That done, the idea swept over the land of Washington and Lincoln that diplomacy might now be equal to the task of avoiding an invasion.

Perhaps this hope will be realized. Surely the situation is not as bad as it was thirty-six hours ago. But let us not jump at possibly false conclusions. The national guard was ordered to mobilize BEFORE the now liberated soldiers were captured. News of their fight and capture came on the morning in which the La Crosse militia entrained for Camp Douglas. The situation, then, is not better than it was the day the guard was called to the colors. As then, all now depends upon the answer of Carranza to America's ultimatum.

We have a profound feeling that if there is in honor a way to keep the United States out of war, President Wilson will find it. We believe there is an even chance that a way exists. But with the even chance that war will come, there should be no relaxation of patriotic efforts to meet the crisis, no false sense of security.

Even if there must be war, delay is valuable. Every hour consumed in diplomatic maneuvers is one hour nearer the end of that terrible period in which the uninured find the Mexican climate a hardship and a peril. By all means take the boys to the border, get them acclimated, prepare them in every way for the ordeal which, please God, they may not encounter.

COMPENSATE RUM SELLERS

MENOMONIE, Wis., June 30.—Menomonie claims the distinction of being the first city in the county to adopt a method of compensation for liquor sellers who are obliged to discontinue business on account of prohibition. The thirteen local saloonkeepers who will be forced to close their establishments at midnight tonight, when the city goes dry as a result of the April election, will go into other lines of retail business, and through a community arrangement they will be given the use of their buildings rent free for a year to give them a chance to get started.

HOW ABOUT JAPAN

V—Over the Sleeping Dragon
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—It was an American fleet that broke down the barriers of Japan's isolation from the modern world. Of late, occasional Japanese have seen fit to reproach us on this score. Having hauled them into the world from which they held themselves aloof, they say we are now opposing the development that our own course made necessary.

However that may be, the first forty years of intercourse between Japan and America were characterized by a friendship rare among nations. That this friendship threatens of late to cool is clearly not due to any Japanese or American national characteristic that makes for enmity. The two countries for decades were very friendly, not only officially but in the public sentiment of each of them. The public sentiment of the United States is still distinctly friendly toward Japan. If the nations are drifting apart, it is due to a conflict in principles and policies concerned relative to two great questions—the question of immigration, and the question of China.

Question is Vital

The Chinese question is vital to Japan. That most Americans do not regard it as vital to the United States is not the real measure of its importance. The seriousness of such a situation must be gauged by the importance of the point at issue to the nation most concerned.

Last year the Japanese government presented Yuan Shih-Kai, the Chinese president, with a document setting forth twenty-one demands. Months of negotiations followed, the demands were modified, but China refused to accede. Finally the Japanese government delivered an ultimatum. A few of the demands were withdrawn, certain others were set aside to be settled in the future, and China was given her choice between agreeing to the rest or going to war. Though the Chinese outnumber the Japanese about six to one, China would stand about as much chance of defeating Japan at present as Haiti would have of defeating the United States. So China yielded.

This might be regarded as a matter lying between China and Japan. But on May 16, 1915, the American government sent to the Chinese and the Japanese governments an identical note. The note sets forth that in view of the circumstances of the negotiations which had taken place or were pending at that time, the United States "cannot recognize any agreement or undertaking which has been entered into, or which may be entered into, between the governments of China and Japan impairing the treaty rights of the United States and its citizens in China, the political or territorial integrity of the Republic of China, or the international policy commonly known as the Open Door policy."

The American government has no reputation for meddling in affairs that do not concern it. Apparently American diplomats see in the demands of Japan a menace to the United States. What is the American interest in China that the government is writing notes to safeguard? For one thing, it is a great deal bigger than most Americans realize.

Each Had a Fence

The nations of the world have always hesitated between two policies in their treatment of China. The old policy was to create spheres of influence. Each nation fenced off a section of the empire, and proceeded to exploit that section commercially without interference. The agreement between Germany and China concerning the rich province of Shantung is a good example. The agreement specifies that any trade or industrial project in Shantung must be submitted to Germans first. Only in case the Germans do not want to handle the proposition is China in the exact words of the agreement, "at liberty to act as she pleases." Russia, Germany, France and England each have spheres of influence. Japan today leans toward the same policy—except that apparently she wants to run her fence around the whole empire.

In 1898, the United States took a hand in the game. Fencing off sections of the territory of other nations for the preferential treatment of American trade is contrary to American policy. The United States put forward, and put through, the Open Door policy. The gist of the Open Door is that China is to be left alone. She is to retain all her territory and all her sovereignty. No nation is to get any special favors and all nations are free to compete at will for Chinese trade.

John Hay as secretary of state secured the agreement of all the powers to this plan. This is the principle that America stands for in China. This commercial arrangement is all she has wanted in the past, and all she wants today.

Given an equal chance, the legitimate business that we might do in China is staggering in its proportions. There is enough of it to make all the difference in crucial periods between national hard times and national prosperity.

Railroads Needed

China's chief need today is for railroads. At a conservative estimate there is room for the investment of five billion dollars in Chinese railways. China can by no possibility supply the capital, the materials or the technical skill necessary to their construction. Yet they are as badly needed for the development of the country as were our own transcontinental lines that opened up the west, or as the Canadian Pacific was needed by Canada. China knows it. She is anxious to have them built. There are only four nations on earth who have the capital to build any considerable portion of those lines, who can supply the engineers to see to their building and turn out the rails and the rolling stock necessary to their operation. Those nations are France, Germany, England and the United States. Allowing for the share of the smaller industrial nations, it is putting a low estimate on our business acumen to say, that with our capital, our trained technical men and our steel plants, we would secure only one-fifth of the business.

If we did secure that fifth, matters would proceed somewhat in this fashion. The Chinese government would issue railway bonds to raise the necessary capital. Those bonds would be offered for sale in the United States. Any man with five hundred or a thousand dollars to invest could put it into a Chinese railway bond guaranteed by a stable Chinese government. If China floated a billion dollars worth of railway bonds in the United States, it would mean first that this country would draw an annual fifty millions in interest alone, to be added to the wealth of the nation at large.

Of the billion dollars thus raised in the United States, however, a large proportion would be spent in the United States at once. All the necessary materials of construction, all the rails and cars and locomotives, would be purchased in American mills and car shops. Whole industries would receive a big impetus, that would be reflected not only in those industries but throughout the nation, exactly as the munition prosperity is being reflected today. Not only would employment be given to thousands of workers in the United States but many of our young men would find opportunity in the Chinese construction work itself.

Would be Steady Business

The business thus started would be a steady one, not a boom to flourish and die. The railroads would need a continual supply of fresh material for upkeep and extension. The orders from such railroads as were financed in the United States would come to the United States to be filled, year after year. The orders would grow steadily, not diminish.

The Chinese bonds would give us more than a market and a golden stream of interest. Along with similar investments they would do much to render our financial position impregnable. England today is financing what is far and away the most extravagantly expensive conflict in history. She is back of France and Russia and Italy with her handbook. England's strength is due largely to her foreign investments. London is the financial center of the world because of a myriad foreign investments. Go where you will, you find British capital. Our transcontinental railways were largely built with it. Many of our biggest cattle ranches were run on it, in the heyday of the business. South America is being developed by it. It is opening up Africa and Australia. The part it plays in America is shown by the flood of American securities that London throws on New York to keep up her credit. And her credit is kept up.

As America grows in riches, she will have to adopt the same policy. China is the great opportunity. But at this juncture, Japan's needs force her to put forward a different program. She is too densely populated to be primarily a producing nation. She must enter the field of industry. Geographically, she has a strategic position as regards China. Financially she is at present incapable of building any big portion of China's railroads. Industrially she has as yet not enough facilities for turning out rails and rolling stock. As to whether or not she is capable technically, there is some discussion. Japan's own railways, government owned, are said to be running at a loss.

Caught between her necessity and her inadequate resources for meeting western competition, Japan proposes to act as an intermediary between China and the United States. China furnishes the field, America furnishes the capital, Japan is to do the work, and incidentally come in on the profits. To gain this end, she has to put China in a position where China can not grant her contracts direct to the United States.

What Will Japan Do?

From the American point of view, there are certain drawbacks about this program. If Japan wants to build railroads in China, she is free to go ahead. America will not interfere. On the other hand, if America wants to build Chinese railroads, she should have the same privilege. If America feels able to build railroads without assistance, assistance should not be forced on her, with an attendant splitting of profits.

The issue is clear. It does not apply to railroads alone. It applies to mines and power plants and waterworks and lighting systems and street car lines, and all the thousand and one great enterprises that will make the China of the future the greatest field for development the world has ever seen. Moreover, a consideration of the industrial possibilities of the situation does not even touch upon the immense item of Chinese trade and commerce.

Over this vital question of Chinese policy, Japan and the United States find themselves diametrically opposed. Japan's principle of the sphere of influence, the principle of political domination in the interest of commercial and industrial expansion, is the exact counter-policy of the doctrine which forms the cornerstone of our Oriental diplomacy—the doctrine of the Open Door. Japan's actual methods threaten to cue us off from the Chinese industrial and commercial field at the very time when we are in a position to develop it to the mutual benefit of ourselves and the Chinese. Japan's course and our course can not coexist. One or the other must triumph, one or the other must be pushed aside.

If the decision lay with China, it is certain that she would declare in favor of American principles and American methods. But China is helpless. The question will have to be settled from without, and that settlement is still to be made.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Visible Means

A certain magistrate in the south of Ireland had the reputation of being hard on vagrants and loafers. One of these unworthy specimens came before him, charged with loitering, and after hearing the charge he pleaded guilty. The magistrate put some questions to him, which he readily answered. Then his worship said:

"Prisoner, have you any visible means of support."

"Yes, your honor," replied Mick, quick as lightning. Then, turning to the area of the court, he looked at his wife, who was a washerwoman, and said: "Bridget, stand up, so that his worship can see you."—London Tit-Bits.

Sure Was

A lady who had just received an interesting bit of news said to her little daughter:

"Marjorie dear, auntie has a new baby, and now mamma is the baby's aunt, papa is the baby's uncle and you are her little cousin."

"Well," said Marjorie, wonderingly, "wasn't that arranged quick?"

Can't Arrange

Some time ago a Brooklyn cook announced to the mistress of the house her betrothal, adding that she might leave at any moment. The woman of the house was genuinely sorry, since the cook was a good one.

Months passed, however, without further word of leaving, although the happy man-to-be was a frequent caller in the kitchen. So the mistress was finally moved to ask:

"When are you going to be married, Mary?"

"Indade an' it's niver at all, I'm thinkin', mum," was the melancholy response.

"Really? What's the trouble?"

"'Tis this, mum—I won't marry Pat whin he's drunk, and whin he's sober he won't marry me!"

Final Question

"Em, for goodness' sake get those kids to bed," grumbled Jenkins, who had vainly tried to settle down for a quiet five minutes.

The young Jenkinses went aloft, and there seemed some prospect of peace until Harold, the eldest, who had been allowed half an hour's grace, began butting in with his ridiculous queries.

"What on earth do you want now?" demanded the harassed parent as he desperately flung down the paper.

"Well, dad, did Adam only have one name?"

"Of course he did. Now, look here, any more silly questions and you go to bed, too, my son."

"Yes, pa, but can't I talk a little bit more about that question?"

"Go on with it," said the patient pa. "And, mind, this is the very last."

"Well, was Adam his first name or his last name?"—Buffalo Examiner.

Playing Safe

The doctor told him he needed carbohydrates, proteids and, above all, something nitrogenous. The doctor mentioned a long list of foods for him to eat. He staggered out and wabbled into a Penn avenue restaurant.

"How about beefsteak?" he asked the waiter. "Is that nitrogenous?"

The waiter don't know.

"Are fried potatoes rich in carbohydrates or not?"

The waiter couldn't say.

"Well, I'll fix it," declared the poor man in despair. "Bring me a large plate of hash."—Chicago News.

Romance vs. Realism

"How did Jack come to break with Miss Sweetleigh? He used to say that she was as good as gold."

"Yes, but you see he's got acquainted with a girl who has gold."

Sufficiency

She—There is only one reason why I can't marry you.

He—Tell me!

She—You're the wrong man!

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
by DAISY DEAN

Peggy Hyland.

Peggy Hyland, a petite and dainty actress, who won fame on the legitimate stage and in feature pictures in England, is one of the latest players to be signed by the Vitagraph company. Miss Hyland, who has appeared successfully in London with Cyril Maude and in a number of the late George Edwards musical comedy productions, besides starring in such cinema features as "The Love of an Actress", "John Halifax, Gentleman," "Infelice," "Castle," etc., has been assigned to Mr. E. H. Sothern's company as his leading lady. She is now at work in a strong romantic drama by Paul West, in which Mr. Sothern appears as a business man whose creed is "get what you can, no matter how, but get it."

Mme Petrova in New Metro Play

The story of "The Eternal Question," a five-part Metro picture, in which Mme Petrova will be starred early in July, deals with the discussion, woman. One held that birth and breeding made the woman, while the other contends that clothes were largely responsible. They make a wager to test their theories. A young woman, the role assayed by Mme Petrova, playing a grind organ and carrying a monkey, comes along at this time. She is selected for their subject.

The girl is fitted out with clothes galore, and introduced at a charity ball as a Russian countess. A novel love situation develops and it also develops that the girl is in truth royal born. She has run away from home because her father, the king of Montenaro, has tried to force her into marriage with the grand duke. The duke traces her to America, and is successful in abducting her aboard an outgoing steamship, bound for the Mediterranean. She is rescued in a spectacular manner, and of course all ends happily when she is married to her American champion.

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," the favorite selection of a boy violinist, serves as an introductory part of a five reel Bluebird titled "Spring Song," which stars Ruth Stonehouse in her first Universal number. Little Dorothy Clark plays the part of Cecile as the child, and others are Kingsley Benedict as the heavy, Arthur Holt in a character part, William Canfield, Wadsworth Harris and Helen Wright. Franklyn Farnum plays opposite Ruth Stonehouse.

Ann Murdock, the Frohman star, and Henry Stanford, an actor best known to the American public by his appearance in the role of "Jerry," with Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," for 1,000 performances, are engaged at the Edison studios in New York in the production of a five-reel feature picturization of "Where Love Is," an adaptation of William J. Locke's novel of that name.

NORTH SIDE

PLAY GROUNDS WILL HAVE CELEBRATION TO RAISE FUNDS

The interest in the playgrounds of La Crosse is rapidly growing, and the directors are elated over the prospects for a successful season. Because of its splendid equipment and its natural beauty, Copeland park boasts of a larger attendance than either of the south side playfields.

The boys of all the playgrounds in all branches of sport and the girls, not to be outdone, are showing a lively interest in basket ball, volley ball, base ball, and track, besides their folk dancing and other popular pastimes of girls. Swimming is going to be more popular this year than ever before.

Instruction in the various strokes and in the simpler forms of diving is given.

During the entire summer the playgrounds will be the scenes of all kinds of athletic contests both for girls and boys, with a suitable finale to be held at Copeland park August 22, which day's program will be continuous afternoon and evening. It is hoped that the playground supervisor will be able this year to offer suitable awards for the winners in these various events, both for girls and for boys. In order to make this possible the playground directors will have to raise the money since there is no appropriation for that purpose.

The first attempt to raise these funds will be made on Monday evening, June 3rd, beginning at 7 p. m., when a Fourth of July celebration and play exhibition will be staged on the north side playfield. The program will consist of games of all kinds, a flag drill, a gun drill, and folk dancing. Refreshments will be on hand and the public is most cordially invited to attend and help to foster a good spirit toward the popular playground of all the people and of all ages.

Ill Health Often Caused by the Kidneys

Of all the ills mankind suffers from, nothing is more to be feared than those caused by kidney poisoning, because such ailments usually come on so stealthily that you are seldom aware of their presence until they have actually spread dangerous diseases throughout the body. There are, however, certain signs by which you can tell whether your kidneys are properly cleansing your blood.

If you arise in the morning with dull, aching pains in the back and feel as if your night's rest had not refreshed you; if you are weak, depressed, nervous or irritable; if your head aches, spots appear before your eyes; if your appetite is poor, your complexion sallow; if you have indigestion, biliousness, rheumatic pains and have lost flesh rapidly, you may be sure kidney poisons exist in your blood, and you cannot possibly get well until they are removed. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has a steady, beneficial action on the kidneys that usually brings relief in a short time. It is recognized by many physicians as one of the most dependable medicines in the treatment of kidney and liver diseases. It contains no harmful ingredients. Try it. At all druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes. Free sample if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 422, Rochester, N. Y.

CLAIM NAVAL BASE SHOULD BE BUILT AT COLUMBIA MOUTH

BY JOHN BARTRAM KELLEY

(Written for the United Press.)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 29.—From Montana to the Pacific ocean there has arisen during recent months a demand, persistent and serious, that the mouth of the greatest river on the Pacific coast of America, the entrance to the 250,000 square miles of American territory, known as the Columbia Basin and the Inland empire, receive government recognition by the establishment there of a naval base of the first class, with adequate fortifications to protect this investment.

The acorn from which this mighty oak of sentiment has grown is known as the Columbia naval committee.

In January F. C. Harley and Wallaec R. Struble started the movement in Astoria.

The necessity for the naval base was an easy matter to prove. The Pacific coast is so helpless at this moment that our military experts say that in case of an invasion the first stand American troops could make would be in the Bear River Valley in Utah. That means the the evacuation of the Pacific northwest.

Our naval base at Bremerton is entirely unprotected from a flank or rear attack so long as there is no adequate defense at the mouth of the Columbia. Furthermore, it is located 132 miles from the ocean and its entrance is dominated by territory of the greatest sea power in the world.

Strategically, the mouth of the Columbia is the key to the northwest. From it to Alaska is open American roadstead and the shortest route.

It is the nearest point to Yokohama.

It is the entrance to the wheat belt, to three-fourths of our transcontinental lines, to a 500 mile navigable waterway, and to the only water grade route to the northwest.

These are arguments which the residents of the basin considered before making their demands.

Commercial bodies of Eugene, Salem, Portland and Astoria have endorsed the movement. In March the city of Spokane, uniting with the naval base committee, held a preparedness convention in which five states were represented. This convention was held at the suggestion of P. N. Bernard of Kalispell, Mont.

Six hundred Portland business men have sent a long omnibus telegram to Washington in six sections, urging the necessity of the naval base. The present status of the campaign is considered favorable.

Secretary Daniels is considering the naval report of 1900 in conjunction with the army report of 1916.

Chairmen of naval committees in the house and senate are both friendly to the Hawley and Lane bills for the establishment of the naval base.

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Special Treatment Required.

Many women suffer from a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms are similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines usually prescribed do not restore the patient's normal condition.

There seems to be a kind of dyspepsia caused by derangement of the female organism. While this appears to be the same as ordinary indigestion it can be relieved only by a medicine which, besides acting as a stomach tonic, is good for female ailments. Read what such a medicine did for Mrs. Williams :—

She says:—"Before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with dyspepsia and bearing down pains in my back and sides, and after my meals my stomach would bloat up till I could scarcely get my breath. At times I was so weak I could hardly stand on my feet and I looked hollow-eyed and my skin was yellow. Now I have a good color, have gained in every way and can do my work without any pains. I think it is the best medicine on earth for stomach troubles of women."—Mrs. Nellie Williams, 31 West 3d Street, New Albany, Ind.

SOCIETY

AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

There were fifty guests at the dinner dance at the Country club last evening, numerous small parties being entertained. Mrs. George W. Burton was hostess at a party of eleven for Miss Mary Burton.

Mrs. P. M. Gelatt entertained at a luncheon of twenty covers at the Country club today.

BRIDGE

Mrs. Albert L. Miller entertained at an evening bridge at her home, 1414 State street, last night. Three tables were played, the favor going to Mrs. H. Phillips.

SURPRISE MRS. CRONON

Attending what she supposed was a regular meeting of the Mothers' circle of the Presbyterian church at the church parlors Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Edward Cronon was surprised to find the meeting converted into a party in her honor, the members of the circle thus showing their appreciation of the efforts of Mrs. Cronon in behalf of the Mothers' circle. Although the circle has no regular officers Mrs. Cronon has been the virtual head of the organization for a number of years and it is through her labors that the circle has attained its present membership and usefulness. There were seventy members and friends present at the meeting Wednesday, and Mrs. Cronon was presented with a beautiful set of table linen. A delicious lunch was served, the ladies being seated at four long tables. Pink roses formed the decorations, the tables being centered with bouquets of the queen of flowers, and a single rose was laid at each place. Mesdames Albert Roberge and Harry Woods were the prime movers in the surprise party, although all the members co-operated so heartily in the affair that special mention is hardly justified.

MINNEAPOLIS WOMAN HONORED

Miss Theresa Bogner entertained a party of friends last evening at her home, 1107 South Third street, complimentary to Mrs. A. R. Fries of Minneapolis.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Miss Ella C. Ingwersen entertained at a children's party at the La Crosse hospital yesterday afternoon for Beverly Carrington. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party for Genevieve Benezet, who leaves soon for Evansville, Ind., to live. The afternoon was merrily spent in games of various kinds and lunch was served in the park adjoining the hospital grounds. Those present were Genevieve Benezet, Posey Edwards, Helen Bunge, Florine Partin, Lois Hanson, Walter Woods, Roger Benezet, Jonathan Bunge and Beverly Carrington.

Y. P. S. MEETING

The Young People's society of the Bethel Lutheran church, corner of George and Sill streets, will be entertained at the church parlors this evening by Mr. Sig Severson.

FOR MISS WILLSIE

A party of local people will go to Dresbach tomorrow for an all-day outing, the affair being given in honor of Miss Etta Willsie of New York city. The trip will be made on the "Otto" launch. Supper will be partaken of at the Torrance cottage.

The Misses Torrance will entertain the Misses Edna and Minnie Walker, Etta Willsie and Gertrude Heydon at the Torrance cottage at Dresbach over the week-end.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. F. C. Beisel entertained at a slumber party in honor of Miss Willsie. Two tables of bridge were played during the evening. The guests spent the night at the Beisel home.

WED AT WINONA

Miss Anna Hettinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Hettinger, 1402 Denton street, and Harry J. Koepcke, of French Island, were married at Winona Wednesday afternoon. They were accompanied by Miss Anna Klema of Austin, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Koepcke will reside at the home of the groom on French Island, where he runs a boat livery and saloon.

Gets Judgment For Being Careless

Mrs. Jack Trepel of New York is the only woman who can boast of having collected $1,979 for being careless. On a hot day last summer she went bathing after having entrusted her jewels to the Deanville Bathing company, placing them in an envelope provided for the purpose without stopping to read the warning printed on it. Had she read the warning she would have seen that the proprietor accepted no liability for lost property beyond the sum of $25. She signed her name o nthe envelope, but above the notice. When she sued to recover the value of her jewels, the court contended that this was proof that she had failed to read the notice, and awarded her judgment for the full amount.

Don't Believe That Mrs. Leeds Will Wed

NEW YORK, June 30.—Friends in this city of Mrs. William B. Leeds (sometimes referred to as "the $30,000,000 widow") take little stock in the report emanating from London that she is to wed Prince Christopher of Greece, the youngest brother of King Constantine. It is recalled that she has refused several more tempting offers than that of the Greek prince and has consistently maintained that she has no desire to get married again. Some years ago Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, brother of the French pretender, was an unsuccessful suitor for the hand of the immensely wealthy American widow and it is also known that had she so desired she might have become the wife of Count Halie de Talleyrand-Perigord, a cousin of the Duc de Talleyrand, who married Anna Gould.

Woman's Memory Honored At Alabama University

MOBILE—A new library is to be built at the University of Alabama as a memorial to the late Mrs. Amelia R. Gorgas, mother of Surgeon General William O. Gorgas. The library will be the largest in the state and will cost $100,000. The honor to be paid to the memory of Mrs. Gorgas is one of the most signal ever accorded a woman in Alabama. Mrs. Gorgas was once librarian of the University of Alabama, succeeding her husband, Brig. Gen. Josiah Gorgas, who was president of the institution for a time. She filled the post of librarian for twenty years with signal success.

Nurse Left Fortune By Grateful Patient

CHICAGO—Miss Bessie Amell of Chicago, a trained nurse, has been left a fortune of $500,000 by a patient, Mrs. S. W. Blake of California, who considered that the young woman had shown her more consideration and kindness than was involved in the relation of a professional nurse to her patient. Miss Amell was the sole support of herself and her mother before the legacy.

Miss Wilson Speaks At Chautauqua Opening

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president, is to speak at the opening of the great Atlantic City chautauqua tomorrow. She will discuss community work, in which she is interested. Professor Henry C. Jackson, who is popularly known as the "Discoverer of the Schoolhouse Juvenile court," will be another prominent speaker on the assembly program.

DELAY IN PARLEY WILL AID FORCES TO BETTER PREPARE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 30.—Army officers here welcome any delay occasioned by further negotiations with Carranza. They said that the longer the two governments mark time, the better the American forces would be prepared in the event of hostilities, while Mexico would enjoy no corresponding benefit.

A few more days will see the distribution of several thousand national guardsmen along the border, releasing 35,000 regulars for active service. In addition, a delay will permit the concentration of large supplies of foodstuffs and munitions, the mobilization of transport facilities and the rehabilitation of the aviation corps.

The quartermaster's department will open bids tomorrow for big quantities of provisions, including 180,000 pounds of beans, 180,000 cans of tomatoes, 180,000 pounds of coffee, 480,000 pounds of sugar, 60,000 pounds of rice, 45,000 pounds of prunes, 20,000 pounds of evaporated peaches, 56,000 cans of jam, 66,000 tins of tobacco, and 100,000 pounds of salt.

Forage for horses and mules will cost the army about $970,000 a month it is estimated, and $45,000 worth of gasoline will be used every month.

The payroll for ofifcers and men along the border now already totals $1,800,000 a month, while the arrival of the militia will greatly increase this.

SCHOOLS BADLY NEED PHYSICAL EDUCATION

BY SAMUEL G. DIXON, M. D.

A great essential has been neglected in the education of the tens of thousands of young men and women who are graduating from the high schools and colleges of the country. In the majority of instances they have had mental but not physical education.

Some few have devoted themselves to a greater or less degree of competitive sports. This number is but a small fraction of those who pass through our schools. Our curriculums are often so planned that they make physical development difficult or impossible. To lay the foundation of health there should be proper physical training under the supervision of specially trained medical men, beginning in the elementary school and going through the college course. A few years of training in youth and early manhood and womanhood would serve to instill habits of personal hygiene which would aid inestimably to our future welfare, individually and as a nation.

Today Sweden is leading the world in systematic education with a resulting high average of citizens individually prepared to take their part in the defense of their homes.

BATTLESHIP AND LINER AT MEXICAN PORT FOR REFUGEES

VERA CRUZ, June 30.—The battleship Nebraska and the Ward liner Monterey arrived here this morning to take off American refugees. The Nebraska will transport 500 and the Monterey about 300.

GIRL CLERKS DEMAND THAT WOOLWORTH CLOSE

The women clerks of La Crosse have inaugurated a crusade to induce the Woolworth company, 5 and 10 cent store, to join the other merchants in giving clerks Wednesday afternoon off during July and August, thus making it unanimous among stores employing female help exclusively.

The support of the women's clubs and the advantages of a uniform plan for relaxation during the heated period are urged.

On behalf of the Woolworth company it is said that a substitute plan has been adopted whereby the girls will have two or three days off on pay, but the objection to this is that the girl will have to play alone, instead of being at liberty to join the pleasure of those who are all out together.

Employes of the Woolworth company regularly get vacations on full pay, those who have been with the store two or more years getting two weeks. In addition to this, this year, in lieu of the Wednesday closing plan, they will be given additional vacation on regular pay equivalent to the total time involved in weekly half holidays during July and August.

Appealing for newspaper space in which to set forth the merits of their case, the young women present the following communication:

The Girls' Appeal

Editor TRIBUNE—

Permit us the use of space in your paper to call the attention of the public to the fact that the girls in the different stores appreciate the action of the various firms in closing the stores on Wednesday afternoons during July and August. It shows that the various managements realize that "all work and no play makes Jenny a dull girl."

It is, however, a matter of regret that the clerks employed by the Woolworth 5 and 10c Store are not to be allowed to share the benefits of this generous action. This store was the only one who refused to close. The reason for the refusal was the fact "they had to pay rent every day in the year".

They are not alone in that. Every other store pays rent for full time, and there are no reductions on account of holidays allowed the clerks.

No one store can long ignore the concerted action of the other stores in a city, especially when their action is backed by clubs of the importance of the Twentieth Century club of this city. Not only is the Twentieth Century club cognizant of the refusal of the Woolworth store to close on Wednesday afternoons, but there are two or three hundred of our fellow clerks who are up in arms against this short-sighted policy.

We would like to believe that the local manager is fair and square, and that in his action he is merely following the instructions of the "man higher up", but it seems to us that if this proposition could be laid squarely before the head of this great concern, that this store would also join the ranks of those who believe in a brief "breathing spell" during the hot months.

It can hardly be expected that girls who are compelled to work while their friends in other stores enjoy freedom and relaxation will give the loyalty and support that are accorded to the more liberal employers. We believe that they intend to give their help two or three days extra for vacation with pay instead of the Wednesday half holiday. Most all of the other merchants would gladly do the same thing, but we all prefer the weekly half holiday, as we then can have outings and picnics that we all can attend.

This communication is not written in a vindictive spirit, but with the idea of asking fair play to all clerks.

Yours truly,
COMMITTEE ON CLOSING.

SMITH ELECTED PRESIDENT OF MILITARY SCHOOL

Bert C. Smith, former captain of Company M, W. N. G., was elected president of the La Crosse Military Training association last night. Fifty men answered the call of Otto M. Schlabach, father of the local military training movement, and were present at the initial meeting, held at Yeoman hall. Mr. Schlabach was appointed temporary chairman.

Other officers elected were Walter S. Woods, vice president; Joseph G. Dubraks, secretary, and Lucien Reid, treasurer. A board of directors, consisting of five members, will be appointed later by President Smith.

They will be given power to determine the details of the organization and to work out the first steps leading to a plan of actual training.

Prominent among the men present last night was John F. Kling, Burlington railroad man, famous rifle shot, and formerly an army and militia man. Mr. Kling has volunteered his services, and will probably be placed in full charge of the work of training the men.

The meeting was largely attended by La Crosse men who have done militia duty and those who have seen active duty in the army. Among the latter were C. J. Wachs, J. M. Holley, Claude Thompson, J. A. Peacock, Charles Noble, Homer Leach, J. A. Fairchild and J. M. Bridgham.

Mr. Schlabach announced that any male citizen of the age of 17 or over is entitled to join the association.

Definite plans will be announced at a meeting to be held at Yeoman hall next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Actual training work will then commence. It is understood that Mr. Kling intends to put the men through as much of the regular work of an army recruit as possible. This will include first the setting up of exercises, foot movements, drills of the infantry and cavalry and later the formation of companies. Mr. Kling will teach the men scrimmage work and trench building. Officers will be selected later. Those proving most efficient will be given first choice.

Professor Bridgham, leader of the North Side Military band, assured President Smith that his organization would place itself behind the training association.

GUARDS WILL BE KEPT ON BORDER FOR TRAINING

NEW YORK, June 30.—Even should the Mexican situation ease up, the National Guard of the United States may be kept sometime at the border concentration camps and put through a rigorous course of training. High army officers here today intimated that the opportunity for training such a large body of citizen soldiery as will be assembled on the border was too good a one to be utilized in the interest of future efficiency of the nation's artillery units.

Troop movements were practically at a standstill in the eastern part of the country today.

"CARRANZA MUST SPEED UP REPLY" LANSING INFORMS

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary of State Lansing today asked Mexican Ambassador Arredondo to speed up General Carranza's reply to the last American demand.

Lansing told the ambassador frankly that the patience of this government in the matter is about exhausted. In this connection he pointed out that the United States government had asked originally that Carranza's statement of attitude be made at once, whereas several days have now elapsed and all this government has had has been "the expectation" of Consul Rodgers as to early delivery.

Lansing believed this forenoon that he was about to get the message from Arredondo.

Most of these remaining in the capital feel assured of protection and refuse to abandon their business and property.

Mines Resume Work

The Pachuchca mines have all resumed operations, many foreigners among the employes who fled to Vera Cruz during the first days of the crisis, having been instructed to return. Mexico City is absolutely quiet.

Thus far the public has not been informed what decision was reached by General Carranza regarding President Wilson's demand for the release of the Americans captured at Carrizal. Special Agent Rodgers said that he has not heard from Washington since Wednesday. He said he knew, however, that the communication regarding the release was answered by the Mexican government through a message sent to Minister Arredondo at Washington, but that he did not know the contents of the message.

Americans Arrested

Rodgers is attempting to obtain information about seven Americans, arrested and brought here as spies. Two of the men, named Fitzgerald and Ford Dix, were taken off one train arriving here. The five others whose name are not known, were taken off another train, Rodgers was informed.

All The Soldiers at Camp Douglas Use Wrist Watch

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., June 30.—(Special.)—Don't poke fun at the wrist-watch. Or if you must, don't do it in Camp Douglas. You may find a row if you do.

Newspaper paragraphers and other alleged humorists have been poking fun at the wrist-watch since Heck was a pup. This mobilization puts a period to all such jokes in the future. He who thinks the wrist-watch is effeminate should visit Camp Douglas. Every officer he meets, and half the enlisted men, have the time on their left wrist.

The effect is a little surprising at first, but the usefulness of a timepiece always visible and yet out of the way quickly becomes apparent.

THOUSAND REFUGEES ARRIVE AT GALVESTON

SUDDEN DEATH

Caused by Disease of the Kidneys.

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uremic poisoning occurs and the person dies, and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a sample package of "Anuric"—the latest discovery of Dr. Pierce. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his medical opinion without charge—absolutely free. This "Anuric" of Doctor Pierce's is found to be 37 times more active than lithia, for it dissolves uric acid in the system as hot water does sugar.

Simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Anuric" is sure to be Dr. Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for blood and stomach.

WORRY, DESPONDENCY.

Kidney Disease is suspected by medical men when patients complain of backache or suffer with irregular urination, disturbed, too frequent, scanty or painful passage. The general symptoms are rheumatic pains or neuralgia, headaches, dizzy spells, irritability, despondency, weakness and general misery. Worry is a frequent cause and sometimes a symptom of kidney disease. Thousands have testified to immediate relief from these symptoms after using Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets.

CORRESPONDENTS ARE SHOWN ABOUT DANGER PATCHES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 17.—(By Mail)—A Canadian artillery major played a side-splitting joke on the Germans for the benefit of the three American news association correspondents at the British war front in Belgium last week.

From a commanding elevation and a safe distance the correspondents and the foreign office official who was escorting them had been watching a brisk "straf" between the Canadian batteries and the German big guns on the plain below them.

The Canadians started the row.

"Our airmen, you see," explained a Canadian captain, "have located a lot of Bosch dugouts and we're going to bust 'em."

The "straf" was in full blast a few minutes later. The Germans responded enthusiastically.

"Don't stand up so's to show against the skyline," warned the colonel in charge of the party. "The Bosches could land a shell here if they wanted to.

"It isn't this party I'm worried about," he added, "but I don't want to get them in the habit of shelling this position. It would be bad for people who have to be here later."

After awhile the "straf" subsided.

"Would you like to see one of our batteries?" asked the Canadian captain.

The party declared it would be more than delighted. The hill had to be descended and a big field crossed to get to the battery.

"You three chaps go ahead," said the colonel to the Canadian captain and a couple of the correspondents.

"Now you two," he told the foreign office official and his own aide, after the first trio had gained a lead of 300 feet or so.

"Now we'll go," he concluded when the official and the aide had made a fair start.

"If we all went in a bunch," he pointed out to the correspondent who accompanied him, "the Bosches might think it worth while to land on us with a whizzbang."

The battery was ensconced in a burrow which anybody could have passed unconsciously at a dozen-foot distance and an aviator could hardly find with a microscope. It had been there for months, said the major who commanded it.

"Would you like to see a shot fired?" he inquired.

The correspondents and the foreign office official certainly did want to.

Hardly had the shell cleared the gun's muzzle before a funny idea seemed to strike the major and he began to laugh uproariously. The others' eyes turned on him curiously.

"I was just thinking," said the major, "how that one lone shot will puzzle the Bosches. At first they'll think a bombardment's starting. Then, when nothing follows it, they'll get to worrying.

"I'll bet they lose sleep wondering what we fired that single shot for.

"Besides, the bombardment being over, it's just time in the afternoon for 'em to be taking a bite to eat and our shell must have landed just right to muss up the tea things."

Three or four Germans were killed, for all anybody knows, merely to give a good laugh to three correspondents, a foreign office official and a Canadian major.

Visit Ruined City

Earlier the same day the colonel took the correspondents and their guardian official to see one of Belgium's ruined towns.

It must have been once quite a good-sized city, handsomely and substantially built, but the German guns had battered it completely to pieces.

Some tottering walls still stood, but there was not a whole building in the place.

"And they're still shelling it," said the colonel, "so don't linger, and when you cross the grand square keep close to what's left of the walls. If a shot should fall in the square while we're in it, the walls are SOME shelter."

"Doesn't look as if it would do much good to keep on shelling THIS place," commented a correspondent.

Wastes Ammunition

"It does US good," said the colonel, "for it wastes the Bosches' ammunition.

In this town is an emergency hospital in a cellar under a building which has not been quite so badly smashed up as the others. To get to it, you go down through a kind of out-door cellar stairway with a bomb proof cover.

While the party stood talking with the surgeon in charge, a German aeroplane appeared overhead.

"Quick!" cried the colonel. "Get cover!"

The tourists dove into the cellar like chipmunks and for about 30 minutes the aeroplane kept them copped up there.

"The other day a group of Irish Guards stood gawping at an aeroplane just like that," said the colonel, "and in less than two minutes a shell dropped near them. The aviator had wirelessed their position to a German battery."

This was the nearest the correspondents and the foreign office officials came to being under fire.

The officers they met did their best to make the visitors think they were in awful danger. They were continually saying things like:

"The road we're going over now is shelled every day." "You can't tell what minute a shell will drop here," and "Keep your head down now or you'll draw the Bosches' fire."

But somehow nothing happened.

There's no make-believe concerning the danger involved in crossing the Channel, but there doesn't seem to be much—for civilians—in roving around battlefields.

TO OPERATE FOR STERILIZATION ON WOMEN CHARGES

HE TRAVERSED LONG LINE OF TRENCHES TO VISIT FRIEND

LONDON, June 18.—(By Mail)—The British hold, at present, one-fourth of the allies' western front.

That is to say, their line is about 90 miles long.

"I shouldn't think," said a correspondent, "it would hardly be possible for any one man to keep track of what'd be doing along such a tremendous string of trenches."

"You'd be surprised," said the young officer he spoke to, "to see how sensitive a fighting line is.

"For instance, the other day, a chap said to me, 'Don't you know Bill Smith?'

"'Yes,' I said. 'He and I used to be great pals but he went to Canada and I haven't seen him for years.'

"'Well,' said the chap, 'he's 45 miles down this line now. Why don't you get leave and go see him?'

"I did. I made that 45-mile trip, wading through trenches and taking short cuts, traveling through country I'd never seen before, meeting thousands and thousands and thousands of men I'd never met, getting lost and asking directions, mixing up with convoys and ammunition trains and having all sorts of experiences, until finally I came to a jolly long tunnel leading down to a thundering deep dugout in a first line trench.

"I went down this hole and as I landed in the dugout, Bill Smith got up and said, 'I'm mighty glad to see you, old chap.'

"Just then a telephone bell rang in the dugout. One of the other fellows answered it and after a minute, said, 'Yes, he's just got here.'

"It was the chap who told me about Bill Smith, asking if I'd arrived safely."

Supply Base Wonderful

A British army supply base is a wonderful thing, of course, but to appreciate it is merely a matter of multiplication.

Take any kind of an industrial or commercial institution—a packing house, a bakery, a wholesale grocery, a shoeshop or a foundry, for instance—magnify it 100 times or so, and you've got that particular detail of a supply base.

A hospital ship is interesting likewise, but after all, it's merely a floating hospital and everybody knows what a hospital is like.

The hospital ship visited by the three correspondents and the foreign office official was chiefly remarkable for a wonderfully spick-and-span director with a single barreled eyeglass so firmly fixed that it appeared to be rooted in his eyesocket.

"He takes it out and puts it in eyeball and all," the captain mentioned.

Souvenir Fiend

One of the correspondents proved to be a souvenir fiend. He accumulated enormous quantities of empty shells and cartridges, bayonets, pieces of broken glass from demolished churches and other relics.

They were a fearful burden. The correspondent lugged them faithfully, however, over fields and through hedges, jumped trenches with them and, when they got too heavy for him to manage alone, shifted the overflow onto other members of the party.

At the French port of embarkation for the trip back to England, the Gallic authorities took every last souvenir away from him under some rule prohibiting the exportation of such junk.

On the homeward voyage across the channel the foreign office official didn't even bother to inflate his collapsible waistcoat; so does constant exposure to terrible danger blunt all sense of peril.

EXCESSIVE MEAT EATING

Most people who are troubled with flatulency eat more meat than is good for them. Flatulency is wind on the stomach. Excessive meat eating or defective nerve force is responsible in most cases.

Cutting down the amount of meat in your diet and taking a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to strengthen the weak nerves that control the digestive processes is well worth trying if you have wind on the stomach, sour risings in the throat, a feeling of weakness in the stomach and palpitation of the heart. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended for thin blood and weak nerves, whatever the cause.

Send today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the diet book "What to Eat and How to Eat." It gives information regarding the tonic treatment for many forms of stomach trouble. There cannot be perfect digestion without a sufficient supply of red blood and there is nothing better than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to enrich the blood and tone up the stomach.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., Colloge-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Frank" writes: "Please prescribe for me. I have fever and constant headaches, dizziness, my eyes are yellow and dull. I urinate often, but very little at a time, and it is of an offensive odor. I can't sleep and have pains in my back."

Answer: Your trouble is with your kidneys. You need something to liven them up and a tonic to make them strong. You will find just what you require in balmwort tablets. I always recommend them for diseased kidneys and they seldom fail to give excellent results.

* * * *

"Friend" asks: "What can I take to clean my blood and make it pure? I am constipated and my complexion is bad."

Answer: Your system requires a good blood purifier and laxative. I always recommend three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They are laxative; aid digestion, and purify and tone the blood.

* * * *

Barber" asks: "Please tell me if there is anything I may use to rid the scalp of dandruff, stop falling hair, itching scalp and promote a natural gloss and color to the hair."

Answer: The best hair tonic I know of and one I have recommended to my practice several years to stop dandruff, itching scalp and promote hair growth will be found in the use of plain yellow minpol. Thousands have used it with great success.

* * * *

"Too Large" writes: "I am much too large. I weigh nearly 185 pounds and would like to reduce about 40 pounds."

Answer: Five-grain arbolone tablets are the most reliable, harmless flesh reducers I have ever used in my practice. They have given satisfaction to scores of my patients.

* * * *

"Office" writes: "If I don't soon get something to make me strong, build me up and give me a new lease on life and ambition I'll not be able to continue my work. I'm overtired, feel weary, and my work and play are irksome. I'm nervous and have a kind of drawing pain at the base of my brain. I am restless and unrefreshed after a night's sleep."

Answer: Your condition appears to be due to overwork, worry, excesses, dissipation or some other such cause. You need a powerful stimulating tonic and builder. Your system is run down and wants new vigor and nerve-force. Three-grain cadomene tablets are just what you require to give the proper vim, spring and life to your entire system and make your mind clear and active.

* * * *

"Slender" writes: "I'm so slender my clothes 'just hang on me. I should weigh, for my height, 25 pounds more."

Answer: To become stout and have a well-rounded figure I recommend the use of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. They are the most wonderful flesh producers I could suggest.

FARM BOYS GIVEN TRIP TO STATE FAIR

About 170 farm boys who won honors in corn, potato, and pig club contest work in Minnesota last year are to be given free trips to the farm boys' camp at the Minnesota State fair, September 4 to 9, as a reward of merit. The camp will be nearly twice as large as any previous one.

In counties where corn and pig club contest work was conducted last year the winner in each class is entitled to the free trip, in case he is not less than 16 years old nor more than 19 years old. In the northern counties many of the boys who scored high in the 1915 potato contest have been chosen. Some of the older boys who attended the camp last year will assist in the management of the new members.

In former years the members of the farm boys' camps have been chosen in essay contests conducted in the different counties, one boy being selected from each county. The method of choosing boys who have won honors in corn, potato, and pig club contest work has been substituted to assist the Minnesota Agricultural college in stimulating interest in juvenile farm work. Power of appointment rests with T. A. Erickson, University farm, St. Paul, state leader of boys' and girls' contest work.

AMERICANS DECORATED

PARIS, June 30.—Lieutenant William Thaw, American flyer with the Franco-American corps, has been decorated with the Legion of Honor and Sergeant Kiffin Rockwell and Corporal Bert Hall awarded the military medal for bravery in action. The three Americans were officially complimented for daring services.

William M. Barber of Toledo, O., member of the American ambulance, has been wounded at the front.

KISSING PASTOR OF CEDAR GROVE RESIGNS TODAY

CEDAR GROVE, N. J., June 30.—Having resigned after confessing he was a "naughty boy" for kissing pretty 19-year-old Miss Maud Jacobus, the Reverend J. Lewis Evans, 55, "the Kissing Pastor of Cedar Grove", left here today with his wife, his luggage and no regrets.

According to the story told by Evans, Mrs. Evans and Miss Jacobus at the time the kissing incident was probed by the Congregational church standing committee, Miss Maud was helping arrange the parsonage and found Dr. Evans among the furniture in an upstairs bedroom.

Dr. Evans admitted that it was then he kissed her. The standing committee sa tdown on Dr. Evans, demanding his resignation.

Comin' events cast their shadders before 'em. Deacon Stubbs says he kin tell every time the minister is comin' to dinner, for he can't find his pipe and bottle of gin.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—doublt strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

WILSON LEAVES TO ADDRESS ADVERTISERS

WASHINGTON, June 30.—President Wilson left for Philadelphia at 12:40 yesterday to address the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World later in the day in Independence Square. Accompanying the president were Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, Mrs. Howe, the president's sister, Mrs. Cothran and Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee. Enroute to Philadelphia, McCormick expected to complete the work of chasing the campaign committee.

It is understood its membership will include Representatives Glass (Virginia), and Doremus (Michigan) and Senator Stone. Others may be W. W. Marsh, Iowa, Fred B. Lynch, Rommer S. Cummings, Henry Morgenthau and Senator James.

TAUSCHER DENIES HE WAS CONNECTED WITH CANAL PLOT

NEW YORK, June 30.—Capain Hans Tauscher, husband of Madame Gadski and agent of the Krupps in this country, took the stand in his own defense yesterday in his trial for complicity in the plot to blow up the Welland canal.

"I never knew or heard of the Welland canal until I read of it in the newspapers," Tauscher declared.

He emphatically denied any connection with the plot to destroy the famous waterway. He admitted having conferred with Captain Von Papen, former German military attache, but said he told Von Papen he would do nothing "against the laws of this country."

Tauscher admitted he had purchased munitions, but said he did not know they were intended for purposes of violence.

The defense rested its case yesterday and it is expected to be in the hands of the jury late today.

Little Woman In Blue Greets Her Husband - Hero

EL PASO, Texas, June 30.—In the transfer of the prisoners here yesterday the return of another Carrizal hero was almost entirely overlooked by El Pasoans.

When the Golden State Limited from the west pulled into the station an officer in soiled khaki alighted, his arm in a sling. With tears streaming down her cheeks and a cry of joy a little woman in a dark blue traveling suit rushed up to the officer. They embraced, while scores of curious passengers hesitated as they scurried for their trains. Apparently pale and weak from hardships, the officer patted the little woman on the back while she kissed him.

He was Captain Lewis S. Morey of the Tenth cavalry. The little woman in blue was his wife, who was at first informed that her husband probably had been killed. They were driven to the Paso Del Uorte hotel, as happy as honeymooners. The Moreys expect to remain here several days before going to San Antonio.

FAMOUS SINGER AND MISSION MAN COME TO LA CROSSE

Peter MacFarlane, superintendent of the St. Paul Rescue Mission, and Fred Fisher, for ten years a singer with the Billy Sunday party, both well known in La Crosse, will visit the La Crosse Rescue Mission next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

INFANT PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC SPREADS

NEW YORK, June 30.—Thirty-eight new cases in Brooklyn and seven in Manhattan brought the known total of infantile paralysis victims in New York's epidemic of the dread disease up to 297 today. This is the largest number so far reported in one day, and it spurred board of health officials into renewed efforts to check the wave.

IOWA AND WYOMING WILL BE LAST TO LEAVE FOR BORDER

CHICAGO, June 30.—Wyoming and Iowa National Guardsmen probably will be the last in the central department to entrain for the border, according to the daily report of militia conditions made public by the department today.

In Wyoming no troops have yet been mustered in. In Iowa refusal of troops to take the federal oath and rejection of 102 men in the First infantry for physical defects are delaying departure.

Reports by states include:

Wisconsin — Typhoid anti-toxin administered, mustering progressing.

Illinois—Three regiments enroute; Third and Fourth infantry examination, mustering under way. Artillery and signal corps being physically examined.

North Dakota—Muster rolls of four companies completed.

Michigan—Muster rolls nearly complete; fifteen companies physically examined.

Minnesota—Expected to complete muster of infantry and artillery today.

South Dakota—Preparations for muster under way.

WINONA FOLLOWS SUIT

Reports from up the river indicate that both Winona and Rochester are adopting the same attitude that is being formed in the minds of La Crosse people as regards the enforcement of speed laws. Numerous arrests have been made at Winona for speeding and nothing but a strict compliance with the ordinances and traffic regulations is contemplated by the up-river police. At Rochester bicycle riding on the sidewalks is being watched as well as the speeding following numerous complaints made to the police of the city recently.

SUGGESTS CLEMENCY

LONDON, June 30.—The Daily News today suggested clemency for Sir Roger Casement, who was sentenced to die on the gallows yesterday after his conviction of high treason.

TAUSCHER FREED ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

NEW YORK, June 30.—Captain Hans Tauscher was found not guilty by a jury today on the charge of conspiring to inaugurate a military movement against Canada which had as its object destruction of the Welland canal.

Mme. Gadski, prima donna and wife of the German captain, was in court when the jury announced its verdict.

Yesterday Tauscher intimated that he had been duped by Captain von Papen, former military attache to the German embassy, whose recall was asked by the United States. The specific charge against him was that he furnished explosives with which the government contended the others in the alleged conspiracy were planning to destroy the Canadian waterway.

Bay City brewery workers are on strike. Never could understand how men could "walk out" of a brewery.

JUDGE HIGBEE ON "COLONEL'S NIGHT"

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., June 30.—"Colonel's Night" was a pleasant affair conceived to do honor to Col. R. A. Richards, and upon that occasion Judge E. C. Higbee responded to a request for a "speech". Judge Higbee didn't make a speech, but he did make a few appropriate remarks to the soldiers and aroused enthusiasm by saying:

"I am happy that I am an American citizen. One of the reasons is that the United States has never engaged in a war that was unjust. When war has been thrust upon us, our nation has always met the emergency and triumphed.

"I am proud of America because I have always been a resident of Wisconsin, one of the truly greatest states in the union. Another reason is because I live in that part of Wisconsin that gives the men of the Third regiment to the country. We wish you luck, a safe return and honor, and we are confident you will reflect only honor upon us."

Dr. T. H. McGovern was called upon for a speech and told a good story, concluding with some felicitous remarks.

Colonel Richards graciously acknowledged the attentions paid him and the regiment and talked pleasantly and encouragingly to his boys.

Villa Reported Joining Forces Of The DeFactos

EAGLE PASS, Tex., June 30.—Juan Rodriguez, a Mexican resident of Texas, arriving here this afternoon from Torreon, said Pancho Villa has joined the Carranza forces at Montclova, with several hundred men. Rodriguez says he knew Villa well and says he cannot be mistaken regarding his identity.

CHICAGOAN HIGH TOURNEY AMATEUR MITCHELL STARS

L. C. Huckies Breaks 144 Out of 150 Targets with Three Men Tied for the Second Position

MITCHELL GETS 149 POINTS

La Crosse Professional Followed by Mrs. Topperwein, Who Smashes 144 of the Flying Clays

The hopes of the La Crosse Gun club were realized yesterday.

What was without doubt the greatest trap-shooting tournament ever held in La Crosse was conducted on the north side range of the club, with thirty-nine La Crosse and out-of-town stars competing.

High amateur honors went to L. C. Huckies, Chicago, who broke 144 out of 150 targets, the basis of the day's shoot. L. G. Hickock, Lancaster, H. Hammersmith, Milwaukee and F. S. Cook, Eau Claire, tied for second place in the amateurs with 142.

Mitchell Wonder

Clyde C. Mitchell, La Crosse pro, repeated his performance of two years ago, in smashing all but one of the 150 clays. His shooting was spectacular. Next to him among the professionals came Mrs. Adolph Topperwein, San Antonio, Texas, who, with her husband, is touring the country. Mr. Topperwein failed to shoot.

Eau Claire furnished a great field of women shooters. First, second and third places among the women went to Mrs. C. D. Moon, Mrs. F. S. Cook and Mrs. E. F. Sommermeyer of the northern town. No La Crosse women entered.

The scores:

A. J. Van Deusen, Winona	137
H. A. Tornow, Winona	115

PHILS USE BRAKES AND TAKE A PAIR FROM NEW YORKERS

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Philadelphia champions checked their slump on Thursday when, after suffering five straight defeats, they won both sections of a doubleheader from New York, 4 to 0 and 5 to 2.

In the first game Rixey pitched remarkably, as only twenty-seven Giants faced him. New York made four hits off him, but three were followed by double plays. In the second game the veteran, Chief Bender, hero of five world's series victories over the Giants, showed a flash of his old time form and held the Giants to seven scattered hits.

Bancroft virtually won the game for the league champions in the second inning when he hit a home run with two on bases. Luderus made seven hits in seven times at bat in this series before he flied out to Burns in the third inning of the second game. The scores: R H E

First game—

ST. PAUL SEES TWO GREAT SPEED EVENTS

ST. PAUL, June 30.—This city will be the mecca July 4 of the biggest gathering of motor enthusiasts who ever assembled in the northwest, with the Snelling speedway races in which almost 30 drivers are already entered, and the motor boat regatta.

Ralph De Palma, Eddie O'Donnell, Eddie Rickenbacher, Joseph Christians and Bob Galvin already are in the city, preparing their mounts for the elimination trials, to be held for three days beginning Saturday.

DILLION LIVES UP TO REPUTATION BY PASTING MORAN

Pittsburgher Has Not the Ghost of a Show Against Doughty Indianapolis Ring Master

NEW YORK, June 30.—Jack Dillon has lived up fully to his reputation as "a man killer" today, and though the services of an undertaker were not noticed at the close of his fight with Frank Moran last night, the Hoosier scrapper certainly killed off the Pittsburger as one of the "big money" fighters of the country. Moran got one round, Dillon seven. Two were draws.

Moran received $25,000 for the beating he took from Dillon, but every jab and hook was shaking him loose from further chances at fat purses. With last night's fight Moran has collected $62,000 for taking two beatings within four months. He received $73,000 for his fight with Willard in March. But the beating he took from "Little" Dillon—more than thirty pounds lighter and six inches shorter—probably spelled the end for Moran as a card.

"If Jack only weighed thirty pounds more," was the most frequent remark heard in New York today among fight followers who witnessed the mill. Moran appeared small when in the ring with Willard, but he looked like a giant compared with Dillon. However game, fast and clever Dillon may be, therefore, his chances against Big Jess are held at zero.

Moran was fat and in anything but good condition for the fight. Dillon, on the contrary, was trained to the minute. His muscles rippled beneath clear, healthy skin, burned to a nut brown.

Dillon did his greatest execution with short arm pokes at close quarters. In the seventh round he hit Moran seven times in the face without return with snappy rights that traveled only a few inches but brought streams of claret and shook up Moran. They went in like blows of a triphammer.

SOX BEAT TIGERS AND MOVE INTO FOURTH POSITION

CHICAGO, June 30.—Harry Coveleskie supported himself so poorly on Thursday that Chicago easily triumphed over Detroit, 8 to 2. Wolfgang's good pitching sent the Sox into fourth place.

In the fifth Coveleskie made two wild throws, one of which, with the bases full, allowed the White Sox three runs.

Doubles by Cobb and Heilman, who divided the only four hits off Wolfgang, were main factors in the Tiger runs.

Weaver drove the ball to the far left corner of the lot for a home run in the third.

FUR WILL FLY WHEN NELSONS CLASH WITH HOUSTON BATTLERS

It is going to be a great fight at League park Sunday, Manager Bob Roth of the Nelsons says, in anticipation of the battle Sunday with Houston. The Nelsons won from the Minnesotans recently in a fifteen inning game, 5 to 4, while Houston returned the compliment here in a ten inning 2 to 1 mix. The Nelsons play at the Galesville Fourth of July celebration Tuesday.

BARREL MUST HOLD 3 BUSHELS

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The new federal law fixing a standard size for barrels, which is the first piece of national weight and measures legislation enacted by congress in 125 years, will come into operation tomorrow. The new law specifies that barrels used in the sale of fruits and vegetables must contain 7056 cubic inches, which means 105 quarts or approximately three bushels. The dimensions of the barrels may differ, but they must hold the proper cubical contents. Fines of $500 or imprisonment for six months are the penalties provided for violations of the law, which is to be religiously enforced in all the states.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero

"Cripple" Heinie Zimmerman. He pulled the fat out of the fire for the Cubs at St. Louis with a triple which sent the tying run across the plate and gave his team the lead a minute later when he scored on a sacrifice fly.

Boss Tinker of the Cubs got back into the game for a brief period. He drove out a long fly which scored Zimmerman with the run that gave the Chicagoans the game.

The peeved Phillies walloped the Giants twice after losing five straight. Only twenty-seven Giants faced Rixey in the first game.

Luderus, Philly first sacker, broke his hitting streak when he flew out in the second game. He had made seven consecutive hits.

Smith of the Dodgers held the Braves to four hits and won.

White Sox sluggers out-slugged the Tiger batsmen and won, 8 to 2.

The Athletics could not solve the delivery of Shawkey of the Yanks, and New York won, 5 to 0.

"Home Run" Baker hurt his leg in making a double and was forced to quit the game.

The Indians are consistent anyway. They lost another game, this time the Browns taking their measure for a 7 to 0 count. Davenport held Cleveland to four hits.

The Senators are threatening to climb back into top place. They beat the world's champions, 3 to 2. Harper was invincible.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

MEDIATION ACCEPTABLE IF CARRANZA SQUELCHES BANDITS, INDICATION

WASHINGTON, June 30.—During the afternoon conference yesterday of Secretary Lansing held with the correspondents he indicated plainly a willingness on the part of the administration to accept mediation if Carrana should give come acceptable sign that he immediately will take firm and obvious steps to break up border raiders.

Lansing said release of American prisoners naturally had relieved the situation by removing a pregnant cause of trouble. He indicated, however, that this government has not changed its position toward major issues with Mexico noted in its last two documents to Carranza.

BRITISH MONEY MEN CONFIDENT NATION WILL STAND STRAIN

Lord Revelstoke Says Maintenance of Exports Through Strength of Navy Aids Money Market

BY ED L. KEEN

(Copyright, 1916, by United Press.)
(Copyrighted in Great Britain.)

LONDON, June 30.—"Notwithstanding the fact that parliament recently voted another billion and a half dollars for the prosecution of the war, and that Great Britain's daily war bill is now nearly twenty-five millions, British politicians say they view the financial outlook confidently. Do the business men of the empire share this view?"

Here is the answer of Lord Revelstoke, active head of the great international merchant banking firm of Baring Brothers, a director of the Bank of England, and probably the one man in England best qualified to speak with authority on the subject, given to the United Press in an interview today.

"The country is proving that it can cope with an expenditure. So long as our military authorities require money to carry on the war we shall shrink from no sacrifice in order to provide it. The civilian community is just as fully and firmly resolved on victory as the armies which are fighting our battle in the field, and it entertans as little doubt as to the ultmate result."

Lord Revelstoke was quite willing to talk to an American correspondent about Great Britain's present economic position, provided the discussion were limited to the financial and commercial situation as it appeared to a banker and merchant without official status.

"London," said Lord Revelstoke, "like other credit centers, was unprepared for the crisis which accompanied the outbreak of war. Whatever may have been the case in Berlin, English bankers at least had no fore-knowledge of the calamity that was to strike Europe in August, 1914. But after nearly two years of war waged in a manner far more exhausting than any nation had anticipated, the edifice of credit in London stands firm, and the delicate banking machinery works smoothly. For this the world has chiefly the to thank the courageous policy adopted by the cabinet and the treasury department during the first months of war."

Different From Berlin Credit

Emphasizing the fact that this policy had been justified by results, Lord Revelstoke explained: "London's credit is not like Berlin's. It is being tested every day by the standards of other countries overseas, and if it were found wanting, the world would quickly know it. London is the center of the sensitive network of nerves which constitute the foreign exchanges. Banks and merchants all over the world have credits in London on which they may draw at any moment. London has attained its present position owing largely to the volume of foreign trade to and from the shores of England.

"War tends to cripple exports because it turns productive workers into soldiers. Imports in turn have to be restricted as far as possible to the necessaries of war.

"Thus London stands specially to lose by a reduction in the volume of world-trade, because this reduction makes the processes of world-finance harder to carry through. But despite these disadvantages, London remains the world's financial clearing-house. How has this been done?

"The key to the position has been the maintenance of an export trade. Exports have been possible, to an extent beyond expectation, partly owing to the sound financial policy of the government, and partly to the use of the great reservoir of labor previously untouched here.

Navy Helps Exports

"But chiefly, the successful maintenance of exports is due to the British navy. No smal part of the navy's effort has consisted in the protection of the world's seaborne commerce, which has enabled financial London to do its share in the great struggle. Notably it is the navy which has made it possible for the allies to obtain from America free shipments of food and munitions; and although the orders placed in America have had the effect of creating a trade balance adverse to the allied countries, measures have been taken to arrest and control the fall in the American exchange.

"I refer, of course," said Lord negotiable securities and to the restrictions on certain imports. In these matters the chancellor of the exchequer has found business community a ready coadjutor, and if the necessity for more energetic measures for the protection of our trade balance arises as time goes on, there is little doubt that a substantial and hitherto untouched reserve could be made available by a stricter regulation of our imports and a greater economy in their distribution.

"London has been able to meet all claims on herself, has been able to borrow abroad, when necessary, on reasonable terms, and in other cases to meet in gold all obligations abroad to those who prefer that form of payment. Nor has the financial community any doubt but that the freedom of London's gold market can be maintained in the future."

Turning then to Britain's capacity for shouldering the financial burden of the war in the future, Lord Revelstoke spoke in a manner quietly confident. "No serious business man," he said, "will be inclined to underrate the nature of an effort which costs the country $25,000,000 a day. Such figures speak for themselves. The spirit which you will come across in the business community is the same spirit which animates the rest of England, one of earnest determination to prosecute the war, however long it may last, to a victorious end."

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to City Book and Drug Store, 500 Main street, Columbian Pharmacy, 123 South Fourth street, and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Niksah)

MANILA

Manila is one of the few spots on earth where an American can visit the foreign, the exotic, the alien and tropic, and still be under the stars and stripes. So rare is this experience to the citizens of a nation which does not pursue a colonial policy, that there is a story in Manila of an American globe-trotter who landed there and asked for the American consul.

Manila lies on both banks of the sluggish Rio Pasig. The ship steams up historic Manila Bay, and gradually the roofs of the city lift above the misty skyline. At first sight Manila is not imposing. Buildings there do not run to height or solidity, out of respect for possible earthquakes. On one side of the river lies the old Spanish quarter, known as Intramuros, walled about by old fortifications, and until a few years ago separated from the newer town by a moat. American experts, however, decided that the advantages of the moat as an aid to romance were outweighed by its rich possibilities as a playground for gems, and ruthlessly filled it up.

New Manila is rapidly responding to the touch of progress, and compares favorably with the tropical capitals of that specialist in colonies, Great Britain. The American is not an important factor in the population numerically, and the city gives the impression of being conducted and enjoyed almost entirely by the natives. Most of the Americans as well as the wealthier Filipinos live out in the cooler suburbs of Malate and San Miguel, a fact which contributes to the illusion that this is a city of the brown race.

After you leave the center of Manila, the fire district where building restrictions operate, you are in one of the many quarters given over to the poorer natives, who live in tiny thatched nipa huts or wooden houses little more ambitious. Here you see windows with oyster shells in place of glass, infants in extreme decollette, and placid ladies puffing at the monstrous cheroots which Manila makes and to which she gives her name. Here, too, appears the carabao, the insular beast of burden, attached to all manner of strange and ante-diluvian means of conveyance which bump alongside modern American trolley-cars.

Manila is rapidly becoming modernized, and much of her interest today lies in the fact that she has not yet quite caught up with herself.

The girl with big feet who wears white shoes may be long on courage, but she's certainly shy on judgment.

WILSON TO SPEAK

WASHINGTON, June 30.—President Wilson sent a telegram accepting an invitation to speak before the Salesmanship congress at Detroit, Mich., July 10. The only thing that would cause him to break the engagement would be a fresh outbreak in the Mexican situation.

The man of few words usually says a mouthful when he does talk.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, espirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Notice is hereby given by the board of public works of the city of La Crosse that, pursuant to a resolution adopted by the common council of said city on June 9, 1916, providing that it is expedient and necessary that the following named streets, to-wit: Twenty-third street from Main to State street, all in said city, be improved at the cost of the property owners benefited thereby, by grading and by the construction of other improvements, and to determine the entire cost of said improvement, and to determine the damages and benefits actually accruing to each parcel of real estate severally damaged or benefited by said improvement that, pursuant to said resolution, the city engineer duly prepared estimates for the proposed improvement, which said estimates were duly approved by us.

And we, the board of public works, having first been duly called together in a body and being duly organized, personally viewed and examined and considered each parcel of real estate affected by said contemplated improvement and each of the several parcels thereof that would be benefited or damaged by said contemplated work of improvement, we duly filed a report in our office covering all said improvements and all improvements to be by us confirmed, and showing the entire cost of the contemplated work or improvements upon the streets above mentioned, the benefits and damages that will accrue to the several parcels of real estate affected by said work or improvement and the amount that should be assessed under the provisions of the law to each parced of said real estate os benefits accruing thereto by such contemplated work or improvement.

Notice is hereby given that said report so made is on file and is open for review in our office, in the city hall, and will be so continued for the space of ten days from and after the date hereof on the 13th day of July, 1916, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, the said board of public works will be in session to hear all objections that may be made to such report.

Dated June 29, 1916.

JOHN VOLLMAR,
FRED SCHNELL,
CARL HANSON,
Board of Public Works.

Audited June 30, 1916.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 30.—The stock market opened today with some losses in specialties, but with a generally firm tone and light trading. Industrial Alcohol lost three points; Mexico Petroleum 1 1-2c, and Crucible 3-4c.

Steel led the market in strength in the afternoon, selling to 86 5-8c. Seventy-one thousand shares of Steel had been traded in up to 2 o'clock. Rumors of an extra dividend in prospect were circulated.

Rails moved upward during the late afternoon. Steel advanced to 86. The market failed to show any real action, however, sales for the morning totalling a liltle over two hundred thousand shares.

The market closed weak.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, June 30.—Favorable conditions gave the bears a slight edge on the wheat market today, despite early advances. July ruled around $1.01 3-8 and September at $1.04 5-8, down 1-8c and 7-8c respectively.

Corn was easier on clearing house selling because of ideal crop conditions. July sold at 74 3-8c and September at 73 1-8c.

Oats were active and down with wheat, July selling at 38 3-8c and September at 38 1-2c.

Provisions advanced on good buying early.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of dis-

Four Villistas of Columbus Raid Hanged In Pairs for Crimes Against Americans

CASTILLO IS DEFIANT

DEMING, N. M., June 30.—With outward apathy, four Villistas who were in the Columbus raid March 9, were hanged in the jail here early today. The men were put to death in pairs on a double scaffold.

Taurino Garcia, still suffering from the wound he received in the raid, said just before the trap was sprung: "I am about to die and wish my enemies to forgive me as I do them."

Euzvio Renteria, who with Garcia made up the first pair, smiled and urged his companion to be brave.

Juan Castillo, in the second pair with Jose Ranget, was defiant. "I am about to die, but I am not guilty," Castillo shouted.

CAPTIVE TROOPERS FORMALLY RETURNED

EL PASO, Texas, June 30.—The twenty-three negro troopers, and Lem Stillsbury, American scout, captured by Carranzistas in the Carrizal fight, and held captive in Chihuahua, were formally turned over to General Bell yesterday on the Santa Fe street international bridge here yesterday afternoon, following demands for their release from President Wilson.

EL PASO, Texas, June 30.—The return of the negro troopers by their reception by large crowds and their stories of Carranzista soldiers killing the American wounded and robbing the captured still was the popular topic.

GUZMAN SITUATION IS SOURCE OF WORRY

BY WEBB C. MILLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 30.—The situation around Guzman, Mexico, where large Carranzista forces are reported to have been concentrated close to the American lines, was still partly undermined early today. Scout patrols learned that the Guzman garrison had been increased but not sufficiently to constitute a threat to General Pershing's communications. The Carranzistas may be in large force in the hills behind Guzman, although the American scouts were unable to locate such troops.

All but three of the horses stolen from the Parker ranch when Mexican raiders recently killed the American owner and his wife have been recovered. Military patrols have not abandoned their efforts to pick up the bandits' trail. A posse from Machuta is also reported to be out yet.

SOLDIERS WOUNDED IN ATTACK ON BRIDGE

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 30.—Bandits rushed the Southern Pacific bridge at Macdona, Texas, shortly before midnight, firing into the American guard. One of the bandits was captured. The others fled into the darkness when the Americans returned the fire. Two American soldiers were reported wounded. They were expected to arrive at the base hospital here today with an official account of the attack.

NEGRO BATTLES OFFICER

RACINE, Wis., June 30.—After he had held up two persons at Corliss Wednesday night, Silas Boyd, a negro from Alabama, gave battle to two railroad detectives from Chicago, F. L. Steffen and Charles Clayton, and a revolver duel followed, in which the negro was shot in the breast, and perhaps fatally wounded. He was finally overpowered when weak from the loss of blood and taken to a hospital here.

An Historical Fact

PURELY VEGETABLE S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD

Even before the days of our Forefathers, extracts from the same kind of roots, herbs and barks, now used in compounding the ingredients for S.S.S., were well known and extensively used among the Indians.

Science and modern methods have only changed the Indians way of handling the materials, the essential features are still in evidence in S.S.S.—Nature's Greatest Blood Purifier—and a natural sequence of the Indians favorite medicine.

ARREDONDO BRINGS OFFICIAL COPY OF RELEASE ORDERS

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Calling on Secretary of State Lansing today, Mexican Ambassador Arredondo delivered to him an official copy of the instructions which ordered release of American prisoners at Chihuahua, the state department following the visit.

Previous to the conference, Secretary Lansing said he expected Carranza's reply to the American demands, at any moment."

The envoy said he had not delivered the reply to Lansing and that he did not know when it would arrive or what its contents would be.

ARGENTINA NOT IN FAVOR WITH PLAN TO POLICE MEXICO

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BUENOS AIRES, June 30.—Argentine would not give consideration to a proposal to send an army to Mexico to co-operate with the United States army and armed forces of other Latin-American republics in restoring order. This much was learned authoritatively today.

United Press dispatches from Washington, reporting such a plan under discussion, were printed at length today by La Nacion, leading paper of South America. The newspapers thus far have not commented.

Argentine's objection to such a plan, it may be stated on good authority, is that Argentine might become unduly involved in affairs of the North American continent. Simply to carry out the idea of co-operation, she might consent to send a single Argentine officer to accompany the American forces. It is believed here that other South American republics would follow the same course, except that perhaps Brazil would be willing to send several thousand men.

KELLY FOUND GUILTY

WINNIPEG, Man., June 30.—Thomas Kelly, arrested and held for several months in Chicago, today was found guilty of fraud in the erection of parliament buildings of which he was the contractor. Sentence was deferred pending an appeal for a new trial.
